About Us:

31:8 Project works to equip and challenge society to proactively address issues regarding human trafficking starting right here in North Dakota. The name of our organization comes from the verse Proverbs 31:8 – speak up for those who cannot speak for themselves. We are honored to partner with and educate schools, faith-based groups, the medical community, law enforcement, and other organizations. Through the work we do, which includes presentations, trainings, webinars, and community projects, we are on track to reach over 30,000 people, work with 20 schools and continue to provide services to survivors of human trafficking in 2020. To learn more about our organization, how you can get involved and any upcoming trainings visit www.318project.org.
